

MORROW

is an urban planning, urban design and architecture practice.

Our work is rooted in thorough research, and has helped build cities and iconic landmarks across the globe.

Established in 2017.
Based in Singapore and Shanghai.

Urban Planning and Design

Helmed by Dr. Liu Thai Ker, who is recognised as the "father of city planning" of modern Singapore and has provided urban planning services in over 50 cities worldwide, MORROW is involved in more than 20 master plans designed for populations up to 8 million people since its establishment in December 2017. Liveability and sustainability are key priorities in each of these projects.

Constellation City

6 to 20 million population

City

2 to 6 million population

Neighbourhood

Central Business District

Urban Renewal

Landscape

Architecture

MORROW is adept in designing a wide range of building typologies. It draws inspiration from factors such as the content, culture, end-users and socio-economic conditions to create spaces that have a positive impact on the community.

Yong Siew Toh Conservatory of Music

Kent Ridge, Singapore
Project type: Cultural

Essec Campus Singapore

Nepal Hill, Singapore
Project type: Education

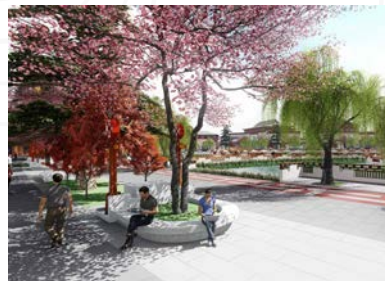

Singapore Lion City Sailors Football Training Centre

MacPherson, Singapore
Project type:
Football Training Facility

Shangri-La Urban Design

Shangri-La, Yunnan, China
Project type:
Tourism Activity District

Amarapura Urban Development

Mandalay, Myanmar
Project type: Outline
Master Plan, CBD

